

Dr. Nebile Korucu Gümüőođlu, Assist. Prof.

After graduated from Baskent University, Department of Statistics and Computer Sciences ranking as first in 2003, she has started to work as a research and teaching assistant at Baskent University Department of Economics. She got her PhD degree from Middle East Technical University (METU) in February 2013 with the thesis entitled “Modelling Nonlinearities in European Money Demand: An Application of Threshold Cointegration Model”. She has participated in various national and international conferences, summer schools and projects. She attended to the summer school in London School of Economics for advanced econometrics courses in 2006. She has been in Sweden, Denmark and Poland for Erasmus Teaching Mobility Program. Her research areas focus on applied micro/macroeconometrics, nonlinear time series, applied statistics, research methods and survey analysis. She has been actively teaching econometrics, statistics, research methods for social sciences for both undergraduate and graduate levels. Now, she is working as an Assistant Professor at Istanbul Kultur University, Faculty of Economic and Administrative Sciences, Department of International Trade.