

Dr. Pelin DURSUN, Assoc. Prof.

Pelin Dursun studied architecture at Istanbul Technical University. She received her MArch degree in 1995 and PhD degree in 2002 from ITU Faculty of Architecture. Dr. Dursun has been a visiting scholar at University of Newcastle upon Tyne, CARDO, UK in 1995 and at The Bartlett School of Graduate Studies in 2000 and in 2004/2005 academic year. Her research interests focus on architectural design, design education, body space relationships, architectural morphology and space syntax. She has involved in a number of design projects including student social centres, conference rooms and research-educational spaces in different faculties of ITU. She also takes place in the design team of ITU Dr. Orhan Ocalgiray Molecular Biology and Genetic Research Centre and ITU Kindergarten. Dr. Dursun is still teaching in Architectural Design Group of ITU Faculty of Architecture both at undergraduate and graduate level.